Railroad Passes Revoked and Notaries Public Resign-New Constitution Makes Many Changes Capitol News.

Gov. Montague having returned from Charlottesville was in his office yesterday disposing of routine business and recelving callers. One of his first visitors was Speaker John F. Ryan, of Loudoun, who was passing through the city and who was with the Governor for some time. Hon. Charles M. Wallace, Jr., and Senator Julian Bryant called to urge the appointment of Mr. Phil B. Shield as one of the members of the new Corporation Commission, and Capt. Carter Braxton was in conference with His Excellency in regard to some matters relating to the Secretary Eggleston had returned from Charlottesville and Adjutant General Nallie was in his office for the first time in several weeks, he having been detained at his home by death in his family. All the State officers were hard at work, some disposing of routine business for the advent of the new Constitution. Several had already filled out and signed their oath blanks, ready to have them properly attested a minute past noon today.

The State Board of Public Works will meet in Gov. Montague's office in the next few days to complete the assess-ment of railroad and stoamboat prop-erty. The work is already practically over, but some odds and ends are to be disposed of. The situation about the Capitol promises to be very interesting to-day, owing to the fact that the new Constitution becomes effective at noon of the State officials and employes holding free railroad passes received letters yesterday calling them in not later than noon to-day. In each of the letters the following section of the new Constitution with re-

company doing business in this State shall grant to any member of the General Assembly, or to any State, county, district or municipal officer, except to members and officers of the State Corporation Commission for their personal use while in office, any frank, free pass, free transportation or any rebate or re-duction in the rates charged by such company to the general public for like services. For violation of the provisions of this section the offending com-pany shall be liable to such penalties as may be prescribed by law; and any member of the General Assembly, or any s ch officer, who shall, while in office, ccept any gift, privilege or benefit as is prohibited by this section, shall there-ly forfeit his office and be subject to such further penalties as may be pre-scribed by law; but this section shall not event a street-railway company from while in the discharge of his official duties, nor prohibit the acceptance by any such policeman or fireman of such free

A large number of free passes and annuals were mailed from the Capitol back to the various railroads yesterday.

Mr. Blair urges that his resignation inconvenienced by even the temporary loss of his railroad passes.

Mr. Wilcox says: "I hope you will accept my resignation before July 10th."

"The people of my county are very anxious to know what disposition has been made of the offices of Constable and Overseer of the Poor. No mention is made of them in the new Constitu-tion. It will be an item of much into the readers of your paper if you will answer this in your query

Examination into the matter show: that the offices referred to, like many other minor ones in the State, are not included in the list of these dealt with by the Constitution, but their retention or abolition is wholly in the discretion of the Legislature. The offices of Over-seer of Poor and Constable are, there-fore, not disturbed by the new organic law, but remain and continue as if no convention had been held. It may be safely predicted that they was not be disturbed by the Legislature.

Not Much Business on the Produce Market-Hanover Stuff Here.

Business is extremely dull just now on the produce market and several of the commission merchants have entirely ceased their regular solicitation for ship ments. They find that after they get the stuff they can't sell it for anything like what it is worth.

Speaking of the matter yesterday Mr. E. W. Evans, of the firm of E. W Dvans & Co., on East Cary Street, said that the situation on the market is ex-tremely blue. For his part, he felt like closing up and going away for a few weeks. He had stopped trying to ge supplies in, for he had found that after he succeeded in doing so the stuff would not move further. ## THE CENTENARY OF SPARTA CHURCH

Large Party of Richmond People to Be in Attendance-Post-Conference Elections.

Quite a number of Richmond people will be present to-day at the celebration of the centenary of Sparta Baptist Church in Caroline county. Several prominent local pastors and many laymen will attend. Among the party will be Dr. W. E. Hatcher, of Richmond College; Dr. R. H. Pitt, of the Religious Herald; Rev. I. S. Boyles, of the Randolph-Street Church; Dr. George Cooper, of the First Church; Rev. W. T. Hundley, of Barton Heights, and many others. Dr. A. P. Montague, pres-ident of Furman University, in South Carolina, will be there.

The history of Sparta is intimately connected with Baptist history in Virginia.

The career of the church has been a remarkable one, and so far as several ministers here have been able to ascertain is entirely unique. For three-quarters of a century it has had but three pastors, and all three were of the same name and of the same fam-

The church was built one hundred years ago and and is thus one of the oldest in the State. The name of its first pastor could not be learned to-day, but its real history began about seventy-five years ago, when Andrew Broaddus—"Broadtus, the Great"-who was at one time at the First Church in this city, took charge of it Under the ministry of this noted divire, who, before his death, became a national figure and who is now a Bap tist saint, the church flourished and grew famous. Dr. Broaddus was an orator of distinguished abilities and many are the incidents told of his prowess in de-

The next pastor of the church was Andrew Broaddus, Jr., son of the other free Broaddus, Jr., son of the other. For many years he continued the great work his father had begun and then the church passed into the hands of his son, another Andrew Broaddus. Dur-ing the past fourteen years the last-natised has been the pastor of Sparta and he is to-day.

Thus, the church has had a succession of Andrew Broaddus and has been for-tunate in it. The occurrence is unique in the extreme and so far as is known is without parallel in the history of the Eaptist or any other denomination. New at the celebration of its centenary Eaptists will gather from far and near to do the old church honor. The Rapyahannock Association, to which it beliefs, is one of the largest in the State and every pastor in it will try to be there to-morrow. A great gathering of 1,500 or 2,000 people is expected.

The Christian Advocate of this week contains in its current issue the an-nouncement of several post-conference elections which affect the Southern Methodist Church.

The Rev. S. M. Godbey, D. D., last of Missouri, for three years editor of the Pacific Methodist, said to be a man of learning and varied accomplishments. has been elected by the Book Committee assistant to Dr. Winton in the editorial management of the Nashville Advocate.

The Rev. Seth Ward, D. D., paster of a prominent church in Galveston, Texas, has been elected by the Board of Missions assistant secretary to Dr. Lambuth. chairman of the Book Committee.

make education a question of chief interest at the different Baptist Associations in Virginia, which will soon be-gin holding their annual meetings. The Religious Herald of this week has an interesting editorial on the subject, saying in part: "Dr. Rob't Frazer and Hon. St. George Tucker are the Virginia representatives of the Southern Education Board. We hope they may find it possible to visit many, if not all, of our associations, and we earnestly urge the committees who arrange the programmes for these meet-ings to give either of them who may be present a good opportunity to present this great cause."

A number of the well-known citizens of Pecahentas, Va., the little town in Taze-well county, are dissatisfied that, in the introduction of prohibition in that sec ed and have determin ed to get the conditions changed if possible. A big petition will be gotten up for presentation to the Legislature and the matter will be pushed for all it is worth. A mass-meeting has been called for July 16th, and the Rev. C. H. Crawford, of this city, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, has been invited to deliver an address.

Several of the Episcopal ministers of he city will visit Hanover county next the city will write the acting to be held at St. Paul's Church at Hanover Courthouse by the Rev. Mr. Hepburn. Among those who will be there are the Rev.s John Moncure, D. D., Landon R. Mason, Cary Beckwith, Otis Mead and Martin Johnson.

BIJOU IMPROVEMENTS

Only Limited Repairs Will Be Made to the House This Summer.

A limited amount of work upon the improvement of the Bijou Theatre has egun. It was originally the intention of the Bijou Company to entirely remode the house, but owing to the scarcity of building material and the inability to secure a contract from any contractor that the work would be completed in time for the coming season, the idea make only changes in the building that are absolutely necessary for the conven-ience and comfort of the people before and behind the curtain.

while the principal plans have been called off, there will be many changes in the present Bijou, particularly on the stage, which has always been cramped. The boxes on the sides will be torn out, the curtain line brought forward six or eight feet, giving a much greater depth to the stage, new boxes will be put in and an annex on the recently-purchased Bijou property on the west side of the house is now being built. This will give plenty of storage room on the stage and at the same time furnish better facilities for the bearing. cilities for the players.

These changes will not be expensive and may be only temporary in scope, because there is no doubt that the Bijou Company will go ahead on the new theatre plans within a year or so. The present house will lose some of its now

The Times secured assurances from its Lawrenceville correspondent that Mr. Turnbull's family knew of no such engagement, and then investigated the report in New Bedford, Mass.

The Times makes it an inviolable rule to publish no communication that does not bear a reliable signature, and the wisdom of this method was demonstrated in this case. A New Bedford newspaper reporter, who carefully investigated the report, declares that "there is no truth in the yarn," and that it was a prounin the yarn," and that it was a prantion of some of Mr. Turnbull's fellow students, who thought it would be fun to see the item in print.

the names of a number of able lawyers were mentioned.

Messrs. Jackson Guy and J. Carlton Jackson are candidates for the nomination before the Bar Association, and the friends of Mr. Daniel Grinnan are urging him to become a candidate. The real interest centers in these three gentlemen, and it was said by over a score of lawyers seen yesterday evening that it would be hard to select the winner. In view of this fact a "dark horse" may be chosen. Other gentlemen who have been named in connection with the position are: Messrs. James Caskle, W. A. Moncure, James R. Gordon, B. Rand Wellford, Wyndham R. Merceith and Colonel B. O. James. The name of Judge Ingram, of Manchester, was also mentioned, but he hards no idea of being a candidate.
